Materials & Craftsmanship

Cadogan is handcrafted using a precision-engineered stainless-steel framework that provides exceptional rigidity while maintaining a refined visual lightness. Each crystal component is individually selected from premium lead-free optical crystal and hand-finished before assembly to achieve consistent clarity and controlled brilliance. Tailored ivory fabric shades are carefully proportioned to soften the illumination and establish visual harmony between crystal, metal and light. Every chandelier is assembled to order by skilled craftsmen, with meticulous attention given to symmetry, structural balance and finish quality throughout the manufacturing process.
