Materials & Construction

Regency Majestic is handcrafted through a combination of cast, formed and hand-finished copper components. Its ornamental crown, tapered tent, curved candelabra arms and graduated basket are assembled as one balanced composition, with close attention paid to radial alignment and visual proportion from every viewpoint. As four crystal bead chains, pendulogues and faceted drops are positioned by hand to create controlled layers of reflection around the gilded framework. The construction balances decorative richness with structural discipline, allowing the chandelier to retain the ceremonial character of English Regency lighting without appearing visually congested. Each piece is produced in a limited run and inspected throughout assembly to confirm symmetry, finish continuity and crystal placement.

ARCHITECTURAL PRODUCT SPECIFICATION

Regency Majestic brings the ceremonial elegance of English Regency lighting into a proportioned form suited to distinguished residences and hospitality interiors. Through sculpted metalwork, layered crystal and disciplined symmetry, it establishes a lasting architectural presence defined by heritage, refinement and quiet visual authority.
