Materials & Construction

Solaris Vega is crafted from solid copper and finished in polished 18K gold plating, creating a refined framework that balances structural strength with visual elegance. The carefully proportioned composition allows the fixture to function as both illumination and architectural ornament.

The wall lamp incorporates precision-cut A+ grade lead-free crystal elements arranged within a twin-prism composition. Each crystal is individually aligned to maximise clarity, depth, and controlled refraction. When illuminated, the layered crystal geometry creates a sophisticated interplay of light and shadow that enhances surrounding materials including marble, wood panelling, natural stone, decorative plasterwork, mirrors, and fine textiles.

Inspired by celestial symmetry and architectural balance, Solaris Vega extends the design language of the Solaris Collection across vertical surfaces, allowing designers to create continuity between chandeliers, wall lighting, and interior architecture.
